Dear Dr. Oppenheimer:

You will recall that I wrote to you a year ago on August 4, 1960, about the papers of Dr. Flexner that are in the files of the Institute for Advanced Study. You mentioned a file on Dr. Courant's departure from Germany and suggested that we get a release from him. We wrote to him at 142 Calton Road, New Rochelle, New York, but received no reply. If you have another address for him, we would like to have it in order that we might reach him.

There are two other questions I have long wished to ask you. One concerns your personal papers and the other concerns the records of the Institute. Have you made a permanent arrangement for the preservation of your personal papers? If you have not, I hope you will consider placing them with the national collections in the Library of Congress. Has the Institute made a permanent arrangement for the safekeeping of its important records. If it has not, the Library of Congress would be interested in discussing the matter with representatives of the Institute. For many years the Library of Congress has collected the papers of individuals and of groups who have contributed significantly to the advancement of knowledge and the development of national policies. It seems to us that your personal papers should contain a great deal of important information for the history of science in our time and in our society. (The enclosed brochure will support the invitation made in this letter.) I hope you will give us an opportunity to discuss this matter with you at an early date.

Faithfully yours,

Gentlemen:

Receipt is acknowledged of your application, copy, and fee of $4.00 for registration of a claim to ad interim copyright in the work entitled DHAWAN'S CUT-SHORT METHODS IN ARITHMETIC (published April 12, 1953).

We regret that the material reached us too late to permit registration of the claim. Claims to ad interim copyright may be registered only if all of the required material is received here in acceptable form within six months from the date of publication. The six-month time limit in this case expired on October 12, 1953, but the application, copy and fee did not reach us until November 23, 1953.

Since registration cannot be made, we are returning the application and copy; the fee will be refunded shortly under separate cover.

Dear Sir:

I have the honor to apply for a fellowship in philosophy.

I am 35 years old and have worked in the field of the philosophy of biology. I have made a research on the problem of the origin of life. A thorough study of this problem requires not only a knowledge of nature philosophy but also of several branches of natural science, such as botany, zoology, biology, genetics, embryology, paleontology, phytogeography, zoogeography, geochemistry and astrophysics. It has taken me more than 14 years to finish my research. In November 1938 I succeeded in publishing the results of my research in German language under the title: "Die Entstehung des Lebens durch stetige Schöpfung". The work contains a new theory about the origin and evolution of life. Enclosed I send you a prospectus of the work, from which you may see the disposition and the main content of the book. In February of this year I came to this country and I should be very glad to continue my scientific work here.

I should like to stress the importance of the philosophy of biology for philosophy in general. According to my opinion the philosophy of biology ought to be at the base of every understanding of human feeling and acting. Such an understanding, in its turn, is necessary for every psychology and for every philosophy of logic, ethics or politics. It seems to me no mere chance that, when occidental philosophy rose from the clouds of mythical thinking about 2 500 years ago, it started with nature philosophy. Nature philosophy is the logical beginning of every philosophy.

In our time a renaissance of nature philosophy, based on a thorough knowledge of modern natural science, is to be noticed. In this renaissance the philosophy of biology has to play an important role and it is my intention to devote my study to this field of science, just as I have done up to the present. I hope you will give me a chance to continue my work by granting me the financial means through a fellowship.

In expectation of your honored answer, I remain, respectfully yours, while of Dr. Isnaz Lichtig

I am sorry to hear that your present position will be terminated with the end of the present calendar year. In finding a new one, the people who can help you most are the people at Johns Hopkins who are in first-hand touch with your work, and I urge you very strongly to do your utmost to secure their assistance in finding another post.

It is expected that the enrollment of our colleges and universities will be largely increased a year from now, so that this is an excellent time to begin your inquiries. If I hear of anyt ing which would interest you, I shall not fail to let you know, but it is those individuals who know your work at first hand who can be most useful.

it is not an seasy task to write a competition without previously knowing what you are really about to do, what your foundation aims at, and whether there is a place that I can occupy. I would not go on considering that if the accidents now going on in Germany and the effect they exerted on my personal affairs did not force me to do so. I received information upon your plans by Professor Grossmann, America-Institute, in Berlin and am now about to study your books as far as accessible; to me.

I am Sinologist and Indologist especially acquainted with Buddhist philosophy and literature, 47 years old. In my first occupation I was artist-sculpture, and it is only 10 years ago that I began to take interest in oriental languages and culture. I made my Dr.phil. 1932 with the treatise entitled: Satkaryam in der Darstellung seiner buddhistischen Gegner. Die prakrtipariksa im Tattvasangraha des Santaraksita zusammen mit der Pangika des Kamala sila, übersetzt und ausführlich interpretiert. - The head master of the examination board gave it the best mark we have. I begged him to send me an evidence upon my scientific quality which I enclose. The treatise is being printed in a series well known in Germany, the "Beiträge zur Literaturwissenschaft und Geistesgeschichte Indiens", editor professor Hauer, Tübingen.

I would have had good chances after my examination to work in the Preussische Akademie der Wissenschaften in Berlin under the direction of Professor Lüders where I hoped to be promoted. The good start is now interrupted by the said accidents and I search another opportunity to begin newly.

I know Sanskrit and Indian dialects, Chinese and Tibetan languages which I learned especially for the purpose of being able to read the Buddhist Tripitaka. I may be good for giving lectures thereon or to help in excavation and manuscript researches or to assist in museum service. I am versed in philosophical and religious problems also. My scientific aim is to prepare a history of problems important in oriental philosophies.

I would thank you for taking interest in my situation and giving me your advice.

References may be got by professor Dr. Heinrich Lüders, Berlin Charlottenburg 4, Sybelstr. 19.

Yours sincerely,

Wally Liebattal.

Course of life.

I am born 1886 in Königsberg/Ostpr. My father was a well known jewish barrister there. The family removed afterwards to Berlin. There I absolved my Abiturienten-Examen in the year 1904. My first studies were for the occupation of an artist sculptor at which I have been working to the beginming of the War. During the following four years of military service I was heavily wounded and could not continue my labours. Consequently I had the leisure to take interest in philosophical and linguistic studies. At first I learned the Pali language privately to get an understanding of the ancient Buddhist scriptures. Then I concluded to have a complete university study in order to be able to make scientific work. I took lectures with the professors Nobel, Walle ser, Zimmer, Lüders, Strauß, Otto Franke and the late A.H. Francke to learn the Sanscrit, Tibetan and Chinese languages. I finished my studies in February 1933 by the promotion of a Dr. phil. at Breslau.

LONG ISLAND UNIVERSITY

College of Arts and Sciences
300 PEARL STREET
BROOKLYN, NEW YORK

February 19,1934.

Dr. Abraham Flexner, Director Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton. New Jersey.

Dear Sir:

We are starting an organization for young people (of the age of college undergraduates) who have exceptional mathematical ability and some of whom may be among the creative mathematicians of the future. We hope to select them from the students of the various colleges in and around New York City. Of course they need not be students at Long Island University in order to become members of this organization which is a sort of mathematical society for promising young mathematicians, to be called perhaps The Galois Mathematics Institute, or something like that.

It is our belief that there is a genuine for such an organization, for, under the present conditions, no opportunity is given to such young people to become properly acquainted with our mathematical heritage in a way that would give them the necessary information and stimulus to develop in a direction in which they have a genuine natural aptitude.

If this idea of starting the training of mathematicians (in the only sense in which they can be trained) in their youth----if this idea appears to you, would you care to arrange an interview for us with a member of the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study, to discuss the nature of this early training, and to cooperate with us in laying out a course of reading and study for these young people? Such cooperation on the part of the Institute Study would give the enterprise the initial stimulus that it should have to start it seriously and effectively.

This organization is to be housed at Long Island University in connection with the Mathematics Department, of which we are both members.

We are enclosing a circular which explains itself, to give you a little idea of our attempt to start acquainting people with modern mathematical ideas. We are sending you, under separate cover, hand-colored copies of these booklets. You will see that such little books can be read and appreciated by youngsters, even though they contain ideas which are not usually included in undergraduate courses of most colleges.

You are doubtless familiar with the fact that in many European countries provision has been made for selecting young people gifted in mathematics, and for guiding and training them. Also, many prominent mathematicians in this country have often advocated such a procedure, but very little has been done about it except in a few universities. If such an organization as we have described should really take root, particularly under the guidance of the Institute for Advanced Study, it might later spread its influence so that we may get our young members not only from this vicinity but from other parts of the country as well.

We earnestly hope that you will be interested in this experiment.

Respectfully yours,

Hugh Gray Lieber, Acting Head of the Mathematics Dept.

Sielian R. Lieber

Lillian R. Lieber, Director Galois Mathematics Institute.

BOOKS IN THIS SERIES

- Non-Euclidean Geometry or Three Moons in Mathesis.
- (2) Galois and the Theory of Groups.
- (3) Others in Preparation. Words by Lillian R. Lieber. Drawings by Hugh Gray Lieber.

The Official Technical Scientific Publishers in Russia have had a Russian translation of the above booklets made, and are issuing 10,000 copies of each!

Read also the opinions of distinguished American mathematicians:

 PROFESSOR C. J. KEYSER, Columbia University, New York City.

"I have just read the book (Non-Euclidean Geometry) and hasten to thank you and to congratulate you. It is indeed beautiful—beautiful externally and internally, scientifically, spiritually, stylistically. It is qualified to give joy and light to millions. May millions read it. Mrs. Keyser (who is a mathematician) and I have read your 'Galois and the Theory of Groups' with keen interest, with delight, and with much profit. We think it quite as valuable and quite as charming as your Non-Euclidean Geometry, and we know not how to give it higher praise."

(2) PROFESSOR E. T. BELL, California Institute of Technology, Pasadena, California.

"Many thanks for your most interesting book on group theory.

I found it altogether delightful. Best wishes for all success in your novel and ingenious undertaking."

(3) PROFESSOR G. D. BIRKHOFF,

Harvard University, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

"Your booklet on groups is a very interesting and attractive presentation of a difficult mathematical subject. The illustrations add to the charm. There has long seemed to me to be a possibility of bringing nearer the beauty of remote mathematical domains, as you are doing. It is exceedingly well done, and I think that you are opening up a new field of importance in bringing mathematics before the public."

(4) PROFESSOR L. E. DICKSON,

University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois.

"You make the Galois theory very simple and that is a hard and worthy undertaking. I was attracted by the very interesting drawings. You would be just the ones to write a booklet about the theory of numbers which I have long dreamed of."

(5) PROFESSOR G. A. MILLER,

University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

"The little volume 'Galois and the Theory of Groups' is an attractive introduction to algebraic group theory. It contains a number of pretty illustrative examples. It is the smallest book on the theory of groups in the English language and seems to me to be a timely publication in view of the rapidly spreading interest in the applications of groups. A number of the fundamental theorems are presented here in a clearer and more attractive manner than in the larger treatises, and the illustrations and style justify the view that this little book combines groups and fun."

(6) PROFESSOR DAVID EUGENE SMITH, Columbia University, New York City.

"What a delightful little book is your 'Galois and the Theory of Groups'! Delightful in form, in illustrations, in typographical arrangement, and in simplicity. You have struck a new note in the field of book-making. An evening spent on your pages would save a student of groups a great deal of time and two or three evenings would open a new field of vision."

(7) PROFESSOR H. E. SLAUGHT, University of Chicago, Chicago, Illinois.

"I have read with great pleasure and interest your two booklets on Non-Euclidean Geometry and Group Theory. I believe you are doing a real service for popularizing mathematics. I trust that large numbers of teachers of mathematics will avail themselves of the opportunity to read them."

(8) PROFESSOR F. S. WOODS, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

"I have read your little book (Non-Euclidean Geometry) with great interest and pleasure and have chuckled over the very clever illustrations. I wish it were possible for every teacher of geometry to read the book. I do not know any place where they could get a clearer exposition of non-Euclidean geometry."

Dear Dr. Lieber:

from you and Dr. Billian R. Lieber, and in addition the pamblets reached me this morning. I find that they arecalready known to the men in the mathematical department here and that they are interested in your scheme. I would suggest that the best way to proceed would be for both of you to come down to Princeton any afternoon, meet Professor Veblen, Dean Bisenhart, and their associates and attend the mathematical tea, which is given daily, except Sunday, at 4:30 in Fine Hall. You would then see for yourselves what is going on here in your subject, and you could, I think, come to some understanding with Professor Veblen and Dean Bisenhart.

Our best thanks for your letter of September 21 in regard to Professor Einstein and the Institute for Advanced Study. At the moment I will make no mention of Professor Einstein's reported visit but I believe it would add strength to our story if the noted German scientist would come to this country to teach at the Institute. It would be greatly appreciated if you could give me some word when it is known definitely that he will come.

The booklet you sent under separate cover, answers many of the questions I have in mind. However, it does not give the permanent home of the Institute. I should like to mention this in the story too, if you have decided upon a permanent site.

With appreciation for your kind co-operation and with all good wishes, I am

My dear Dr. Flexner:

The National Geographic Society is preparing a State article on New Jersey, similar to other articles on American Commonwealths which have appeared in the National Geographic Magazine from time to time.

In the New York Herald Tribune of August 26, I notice that Professor Albert Einstein has accepted an appointment as a life member of the staff of the Institute for Advanced Study. I would appreciate it a great deal if you would kindly confirm this report and also if you would send me any data on hand describing the Institute for Advanced Study. I would like very much to mention it in connection with the education section of the New Jersey State article.

Dear Mr. Long:

I have yours of the Eth. No action has yet been taken in the matter of Professor Einstein, nor will any action be taken until after the meeting of the Board of the Institute, October 10th.

The telegram which you saw emanated from some unauthorized source.in Berlin.

I am sending you herewith, the only publication which the Institute has ever made. From it you can gather its scope and purpose.

With all good wishes,

Dear Dr. Liebman:

Your letter of January 31, addressed to Dr. Flexner, has come to me, since Dr. Flexner has retired from the directorship of the Institute.

I am sorry to say that the Institute is not in a position to assist you in continuing your research work. The work being done here does not extend to the field of Biology and we have made it a strict rule to admit to membership only people whose work is directly related to the research being carried on here.

I hope very much that you may find elsewhere the opportunity you are seeking.

Dear Sir:

I take the liberty to enquire whether your Institute is in a position to enable me to continue the research work outlined below and which I have conducted hitherto with the aid of a stipend from the Dazian Foundation, obtained through the sponsorship of Dr. A. Carrel.

The project deals with the role of lymphocytes in various aspects of growth and in its present phase in regenera-Though foreshadowed by Loeb in 1917 tion and wound healing. and later by Carrel, it is entirely new, particularly its aspect of lymphocytes acting as organisers in restitution of So far I have in invertebrates detected specific organs. lymphocytes active in head restitution and another type instrumental in regeneration of the rest of the body, and have thus been able to solve practically all the problems in regeneration of these forms which were but little understood I believe that the work will have some up till now. important bearing on cancer research. A list of papers published during my tenure of the Dazian grant (last two years) is herewith attached.

As to my qualifications and experience, I would like to state briefly that I studied biology at the University of Vienna and obtained the Ph.D. degree in 1925 after completing all my studies with honors. I subsequently did malaria research work at the University of Jerusalem. Owing to a serious attack of this disease, I was compelled to discontinue the work two years later and then entered the service of the British Government as head of the Laboratory for Marine Biology in Haifa. Due to the disturbances in 1936 and 1937, the latter was closed and I emigrated to the U.S. in 1938. Further details are given in the attached Curriculum.

Given the opportunity, I would like to continue the work outlined above for one or two years. This time should suffice to complete at least its present phase and to establish firmly the morphogenetic function of the lymphocytes. By that time I hope my work would have become sufficiently known to enable me to secure a permanent position in the U.S. in research or teaching.

In conclusion I would like to stress that the work does not require any special equipment besides a microscope and microtome which, if necessary, I would procure myself.

Hoping that this application will meet with your favorable consideration, I am,

Yours truly,

E. Lichman

E. Liebman.

CURRICULUM VITAE.

I was born in 1900 in Austria, where I completed my primary and secondary school education, passing almost all grades with excellent mmarks.

In the year 1920 I entered the Department of Biology of the University of Vienna. After preliminary courses in physics and chemistry I studied zoology under Professors Hatcheck, Grobben, Przibram and K.C. Schneider; botany under Professors Molisch and Wettstein.

All my examinations were passed with honors and I was awarded the Ph.D. degree in July 1925.

During 1925-26 I continued post-graduate work, studying the lymphocytes of invertebrates, primarily by histo-chemical methods, and I continued this work for a number of years simultaneously with other research.

In 1927 I secured the position of Assistant at the Malaria Research Station of the University of Jerusalem. There I investigated the biology and migration of Anopheles, rate and sources of infection, blood groups, etc. After a serious attack of malaria I was compelled to abandon this work and entered the service of the British Government in 1928 as head of laboratories for aquatic biology in Haifa.

My work with the Government covered the Southeastern Mediterranean. I studied the biology of sea and freshwater animals and the plankton and hydrography of the sea. Owing to political disturbances in 1936-37, the Station was closed and I immigrated to the U.S. in 1938.

Long vacations were spent in study at various biological stations in Lunz, Naples, Plymouth. During 1935-36 I studied at the British Museum.

I am married and have one child.

Dear Mrs Liebman:

In answer to your query set forth in your letter of August 1, 1953, the ruling quoted in your letter has since been revised and qualified by the Commissioners of Internal Revenue.

The qualification holds good for a period beginning January 1, 1950, but not before that.

I am uncertain from your letter whether this is a matter involving you and your work at the Institute or whether your question is of a hypothetical nature - or whether someone else is involved. If you personally are involved I should be glad to have some further details.

With regard to your postscript, we do not have the members' list prepared yet. As for the booklet, if it is available here I will send it on.

12 August 1940

My dear Mr. Aydelotte,

You may remember that some time ago I wrote to you as to Dr. Leo LTEPMANN, formerly Professor of Economics at the University of Breslau, who, through having had to leave Germany as a non-Aryan, worked for me for three years on the History of Prices. In September last he left this work to go to Woodbrooke Settlement in Birmingham (as I told you when I wrote before, he was a leading member of the Society of Friends in Germany and it was in connection with the Society that on the occasion of my earlier letter he was contemplating a visit to America).

Unfortunately the Woodbrooke Settlement is in an area in which restrictions upon aliens have to be particularly severe. Dr. Liepmann has been interned under the general restrictions, and even if I am successful in getting him released, it is unlikely that he will be able to return to Woodbrooke Settlement, of which he is a Fellow, and failing that he has no resources in this country.

I am writing to you in the hope that you might possibly find a means of inviting him or securing an invitation for him to the United States. Though he has been engaged on Price History with me for a long time, his main interests are in international economic relations of a more modern kind and particularly in problems of banking and finance. On personal grounds I can certainly recommend him.

It would be an act of great mercy which would be well repaid if you could help to rescue him from his present position.

Yours sincerely,

September 20, 1940

My dear Beveridge:

I have not forgotten about Liepmann. I made a great many inquiries, but so far have not been able to find him a place. I shall not give up trying, but the situation gets more difficult for refugees in this country and it is especially hard to place a man without a personal interview unless it is possible to find a college or university where the individual is known personally.

Unfortunately, most of the Quaker colleges in the United States are so restricted in their budgets that they can do little for refugees. The only exceptions are Swarthmore and Haverford and when I left Swarthmore it was absolutely filled up and I am rather doubtful as to whether anything could be done at Haverford, though they have not taken so many refugees. I shall, however, keep on trying.

We hang enxiously on the news day by day and are filled with admiration for the rockribbed British morale in the face of this terrific bombardment of London. I hope and believe that this is Hitler's last desperate spasm and that if the English can hold out a week or two longer the war will be as good as decided, though it may be a long time before it ends.

For obvious reasons we get no news of our destroyers but I hope that some of them are arriving in time to take a hand.

With warmest regards, I am

Dear Dr. Johnson:

I have had some correspondence with Sir William Beveridge about Dr. Lec Liepmann, who has been for several years working with him at Oxford and who is now in danger of being intermed in England. Is he sufficiently eminent to be put on your list? I should think if we once got him over here there might be a chance at one of the Quaker colleges. Swarthmore, which would be the best place, is, I am afraid, rather over full of refugees, but I think if Liepmann were on this side and available for interviews we might in the course of time do something at one of our Quaker institutions.

I enclose a copy of Beveridge's last letter.

My dear Miss Bailey:

I should like to ask your advice about another foreign student whose application for a fellowship has come to us - Marita Lindgren-Fridell, from the University of Uppsala. Her credentials were sent to us by the American-Scandinavian Foundation with the request that if possible we secure an advanced fellowship for her which would enable her to continue her research in the field of History of Art. One of those who recommend her is Professor Gregor Paulsson of the University of Uppsala and he suggests that it would be splendid if Mrs. Lindgren-Fridell could spend a year in Princeton where she would have access to the iconographical index. mature scholar, she hold two degrees from the University of Uppsala and is a candidate for the doctorate. From 1931-37, she was assistant in the Institute of History of Art at the University of Uppsala. She has held various fellowships and is widely travelled. Apparently her English is quite good.

We should be very glad if this candidate could be considered for a grant at the Institute for Advanced Study. Do you see any prospects that she can be considered?

As you will see from the Bulletin individuals are invited to membership in the Institute who are doing post-doctorate research in fields closely related to those in which the members of the Faculty are working. Applicants are asked to submit a written statement describing the project on which they plan to do research, together with a curriculum vitae and a list of their publications. If an application is approved by the Faculty of the Institute, the individual is invited to membership and a stipend adequate for his needs is provided. Applications may be made to Dr. Frank Aydelotte, Director of the Institute, at any time.

Dear Dr. Flexner:

At the beginning of July I had upon request of Mr. Max Warburg a long talk with him concerning my plans on early American and primitive law. Due to the political situation in Europe Mr. Warburg has not yet returned to America. It seems appropriate to me to send you a (rough) outline for the institution I have in mind. I would appreciate any advice and cooperation you might be willing to give me.

Julius E. Lips

OUTLINE FOR AN ### INSTITUTE OF EARLY AMERICAN AND PRIMITIVE LAW

The INSTITUTE, if established, would be the I. SIGNIFICANCE first institution of its kind not only on the American continent but in the rest of the world as well. Its realization would be the first attempt to make use of a highly important though neglected field of scientific knowledge and research for the benefit of human civilization. America as the seat and home of the INSTITUTE would thus contribute again to the opening of new ways, to the better understanding of and within our modern world by the right application of scientific facts. The founders of the INSTITUTE would not only promote progress and glory of American science but also contribute to the preservation of true democracy in the world and of that conception of scientific work the main aim of which is to find and to interprete truth and truth alone.

II. SCIENTIFIC PURPOSE

- To collect all available material in literature, in the museums and in the field concerning law and government of
  - a.) The American Indians
  - b.) Other primitive peoples.
- 2.) To compare and contrast the different systems, elucidate their correspondence or divergence and to work out an evolution of legal ideas.
- 3.) To make this material available to the major student of law and of anthropology for the benefit of both sciences.

- 4.) To apply the scientific results to the administrative apparatus of our modern democracies, for the benefit of our own and other countries and for the better understanding not only of the primitive peoples concerned but also of our own legal past, present, and future.
- 5.) To prepare and to publish the scientific findings, be it in an own Journal for Primitive Law, be it in series of special publications.

III. PRACTICAL APPLICATION

Such an institution would be of importance not only for science but would imply a substantial contribution to the administrative benefit of our nation.

The available material would enable Indian Office and other Government workers to understand their tasks much better and to be more efficient.

Students of anthropology and of law will receive new insight and new impetus in their own fields.

Two examples may best amplify the importance of practical application of the results gained by such studies.

- a.) It was not until the passing of the Wheeler-Howard Bill (S.2755. H.R. 7902) some years ago that the American Indians were made legally independent by so formulating the law that the ethnopolitical situation of the Indians was taken into account. Before the passing of the bill, the Indian conception of property law had been entirely misunderstood and each Indian had been allotted land with the effect that he sold it within a short time to the white settlers and then lacked means of subsistence. The new bill, however, took into account rg the ethnological situation. Formerly it was not recognized that the Indian social and economic organization was based on the community and not the individual. By partitioning land into individual plots a point of view revolutionary to Indian conceptions of property law was introduced which, through the arrangement of the patent in fee simple and the forced patent, led to the complete breakdown of Indian land tenure.
- b.) Another well-known case is the Herero war in Southwest Africa, which cost many thousands in dead and wounded. This war resulted from German misunderstanding of the current legal point of view, in consequence of which injustifiable land transfers were carried out through the chief. The tribespeople refused to accept these transactions since it was the counsel of the elders rather than that of the chief which should have been followed. It was from this misapprehension of the native legal viewpoint - an ignorance of ethnopolitical factors - that the war finally came. Here is an example of how European legal concepts cannot be applied to native legal situations.

The significance for America, the scientific purpose and its practical application thus sketched, it is hoped that the importance of the INSTITUTE OF EARLY AMERICAN AND PRIMITIVE LAW can easily be recognized. All practical plans to further the establishment of the INSTITUTE depend, naturally, on its location, the means available the the possibilities given therewith. A detailed budget as well as a working plan have been worked out and can be submitted at any time.

Gentlemen:

We are preparing a new Grolier Encyclopedia. This new encyclopedia is to be a twenty-volume set, the majority of entries being of short to medium length. It is planned as a standard reference work for the entire family, useful to high school students as well as to adults who want basic information in concise form. It will complement two well-known Grolier publications, The Book of Knowledge and The Encyclopedia Americana.

We will appreciate it greatly if you will draft a short statement (not over 300 words) outlining the special purposes and operations of the institute.

We would like to have this article by June 1, 1961.

Sincerely yours,

Loring W. Batten, 3rd Education Editor

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, 1916-1920, receiving degree of Chem. Eng. in 1920.

Cornell University, summer sessions of 1925 and 1926, studying mathematics with Professors Hurwitz, Sharpe and Snyder.

Columbia University, 1926-1928; studying mathematics and mathematical physics, obtaining M.A. degree(math.major, physics minor) in 1928.

Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1928-1930; obtained D.Sc. in mathematics (physics minor) under Professor Norbert Wiener.

Harvard University, 1930-1932, National Research Fellow in Mathematics.

Research Activities:

Published Papers:

- "Note on a Theorem of Jacob", Journal of the London Mathematical Society, Vol. 4, July 1929.
- "A New Tauberian Theorem with Application to the Summability of Fourier Series and Integrals", Journal of Mathematics and Physics, M.I.T., Vol. VIII, October 1929.

Completed Papers Submitted for Publication:

"On the Lines of Julia of Entire Functions" in collaboration with Dr. W. Seidel, presented to A.M.S. October 31,1931. Summary of results in Proc. N.A.S.

Papers Presented to A.M.S., shortly to be Submitted for Publication:

- "On the Symmetric Form of the Fourier Sine and Cosine Transforms". Presented to the A.M.S. September 1930. Being revised and applied to some results of Hardy and Titchmarch before publication.
- "On Convex Arcs and Surfaces", Presented to A.M.S. February 28, 1931.

Results obtained not yet in form for publication:

Have applied the Tauberian theory of Norbert Wiener (in part extended by the applicant in his Doctoral Dissertation) to new proof of the Hardy Lebesgue theorem and a theorem of Hardy and Littlewood in the summability of Fourier Series. Am considering application to conjugate series before publishing the results obtained.

Have obtained an extension of a result contained in my paper "On Convex Arcs and Surfaces".

On the topic "The Critical Points of a Function of n(Real) Variables", have obtained results in one and two dimensions, and now considering the extension to n-dimensions.

A new criterion for the convergence of Fourier series.

Teaching Experience:

- 1922-1926 New York City High Schools, Instructor of Mathematics and Physics.

Dear Dr. Aydelotte,

I have just recieved a letter from Mr. Nason, your sucessor at Swarthmore College telling me that you have taken up the directorship of the Institute for Advanced Study at New Jersey. He said that he has forwarded my letter including that of the Warden of All Souls of Oxford to you at Princeton. I hope you have recieved them.

My friend Mr. Perkins wrote me saying that you are interested in the movement concerning the project for better cooperation between the Chinese and Western universities. He also told me that you would be glad to meete me. I am sorry to say that I, had to change my plan to cancelled my visit to America when I left Europe last year. However I hope I may have the pleasure in a later time.

We have organized here an "East and West Cultural Association We are going to publish a journal called "Bast and West" an organ for scholars of the East and West to exchange opinion concerning cultural relations. I have asked my friend Mr. H. N. Spalding to send you a copy of the Constitution of our Association. I hope you will be interested in this matter.

Will you kindly send me a copy of the catalogue of your Institute or other official publications from your Institute as we shall be very glad to know more of the work of your Institute.

Yours sincerely,

C. S. &.

Constitution of the East and West Cultural Association

Shapter 1

Introduction

- art. 1 The name of the association shall be the East and West Cultural Association.
- art. 2 The headquarters of the association shall be in Chengtu, the least disturbed Cultural centre in Free China for the duration of the war.
- Art. 3 The object of the association shall be to promote cultural relations and good will between the peoples of the East and West, especially to bring about a better understanding among scholars and intellectual leaders of China and other democratic peoples by exchange of opinion, and by free discussion of the cultural values.
- Art. 4 The activities of the association shall be as follows:(1) To publish a journal called "East and West", in both Chinnese and English in which liberal minded scholars may express their opinion on cultural relations, re-evaluate the various types of culture, discuss problems of general in-various types of culture, discuss problems of general interest concerning human relations, and discover the principles by which all peoples may live happily and peacefully.

(2) To establish an Institute of Cultural Studies in which scholars of different nations may carry on research on the various aspects and different types of culture, expecially in the lines of history, philosophy, religion, education, art and literature.

(3) To establish a library for the Institute of Cultural Studies and to collecting books in all languages dealing with cultural subjects.

- (4) To promote the study of the Culture of the East in general and of Chinese Culture in particular in European and American Universities and the more serious study of Western Culture in Chinese Universities.
- (5) To promote Research in the field of Cultural studies in different University centres in China and abroad.
- (6) To establish a Translation Bureau in order to get the classical works of Western Culture translated into Chinese and the classical work of Chinese culture translated into English and other European languages.

(7) To exchange publications on cultural studies between nations.
(8) To offer public lectures in university centres on cultural relations and problems in order to broaden the outlook and to enlighten the mind of people.

Chapter II Membership

Art. 5 The Membership of the association shall be of three kinds:(1) active Members: Scholars of any nationality who have a keen desire to understand and to appreciate cultures other than that of their own country and wish to study and discuss cultural problems seriously; and/or those who can write for the journal
"East and West" and take active part in promoting cultural relations between nations may become active member of the association upon the introduction of three other members and approval by the Exective Committee of the Association.

- (2) Associate Members: Persons of any nationality who cannot take active part in writing for the Journal "East and West" or engage in research in cultural studies but are interested in the activities of the association and are willing to support and promote the work of the association and/or those who donate not less than N.C. $500 or U.S. $100 or 20 may become Associate Members.
- (3) Honorary Members: Persons of any nationality who have done distinguished work in establishing better understanding between peoples, in promoting cultural relations between nations, and in serving mankind either through knowledge and ideals or through public service which is generally recognized as contributing to the peace of the world and good will between men, shall be invited to become Honorary Members of the association upon the recommendation of the Executive Committee of the Association.

Chapter III Officers

- Art. 6 The association shall have one president and one Vice-president, one Executive-Secretary and five other members of an Executive Committee to be eleted by the general meeting of the association, and to hold office for one year.
- art. 7 The association shall have two or three honorary presidents to be nominated by the general meeting.
- Art. 8 The affairs of the association shall be managed by the Executive Committee.

Chapter IV General Meeting

Art. 9 The general meeting of the association shall be held once a year. The date of the meeting shall be decided upon by the Executive Committee.

Chapter V Finance

Art.10 Apart from the subscriptions of the active members and contributions of the associate members, the association may receive donations from other sources whenever in the opinion of the Executive Committee acceptance of such donations will not limit the activities of the association.

Chapter VI Appendix

Art.ll The Constitution may be amended at a general meeting of the association on the approval of two thirds of the members present.

Dear Prince Loewenstein:

Please pardon my delay in answering your generous letter of February 3rd about this fine library belonging to General Julius Deutsch. I appreciate very warmly your interest in having it come to the Institute or to Swarthmore.

I took the matter up with our economics professors and so far as we are concerned here at the Institute the situation is this: We are doing nothing at the moment in labor economics and have no plans for the near future in that direction. The field is one in which there is great interest at Swarthmore and also at Princeton University. If the library were to come to Princeton at all it ought to go to the University and not to us. on the ground that it is better to have the books where they are used.

Professor Douglas Brown of Princeton reports that for many years they have been building up their collection in the field of industrial relations and labor history and they have a staff which could handle the pamphlet material and have funds available to cover the cost of shipment.

The field is also one in which there would be interest at Swarthmore, so that I could assure you of a most grateful reception of the library in either place, according to the decision reached by you and General Deutsch in regard to its disposal.

I wish we could see you here sometime. I should like to show you the Institute and tell you something about what I am doing and also hear more in detail about your own adventures.

Yours sincerely.

February 13, 1941

Dear Dr. Aydelotte:

I have made a number of inquiries in connection with the letter from Prince Loewenstein about the library of Dr. Julius Deutsch.

Dr. Leo Wolman of Columbia University suggested that we get in touch with Dr. Hans Fried, who is now working at the New School for Social Research in New York and who is a student of Austrian labor history and problems. Dr. Wolman also raises the question as to whether the New School might not be an appropriate place to house the Deutsch collection, since there are a number of European scholars there who might make good use of it.

Professor Douglas Brown of Princeton felt that the Princeton library would like to have the collection. Over a period of years they have been building up their library in the field of Industrial Relations and labor history. In his own department of Industrial Relations he has a staff that would be competent to handle the pamphlet material in the collection and has funds that could be made available for covering the cost of shipment. He suggested that the matter be raised with the Princeton Librarian, Mr. Boyd. I have not done this, since I thought you might like to take the matter up direct with him.

PRINCETON N.J.

Dear President Aydelotte,

General Julius Peutsch, former Secretary of State for National Defense of the Austrian Republic and leader of the Austrian Social Democratic Party has recently arrived in this country.

He informs me, that his very large and valuable library is still in Paris. This "ibrary - about 4000 volumes - is an almost complete collection of social-scientific works. It contains also the complete history of the Labour Movement, every single book (many of them out of print) every pamphlet, leaflet, etc. etc. It contains also the probably only existing complete collection of "illegal" social-democratic publications, from the first to the last number of the Wiener Arbeiter-zeitung, etc.

It seems to me, that the whole collection is of singular interest.

Julius Deutsch is interested to save this library, and would like to donate it entirely to an American College or scientific institution, if, through the help of the Ambassador, it could be saved from France, which, if it became American property should be possible.

he has made it very clear to me, that he is not interested in any financial deal or recompensation, but only in preserving this valuable collection.

I have mentioned your name to him, and promised, that I would write to you asking, whether the Princeton Institute or Swarthmore would be interested to receive this donation.

We have just taken a lovely house in the country, where my family will stay while I am going to Emory University in Atlanta, Ga. as a visiting Carnegie Professor for a period of six weeks. Afterwards I may go on an extended lecture tour for Phi Beta Kappa, which Dr. Shimer, its secretary, is just arranging for me. Last autumn I became at Brown University, Bucknell and the University of Georgia.

As I wrote to Mr. Earle I should like to take up once more the ideas first outlined in my book "After Hitler's Fall", though on a more concrete basis. When and under what circumstances this present war may end, nobody can foretell - but whatever happens, a preparatory, scientific work for the coming peace and the international, national, legal and economic reconstruction of Europe would be of actual importance.

Dear Mr. Earle,

Supplementing my last letter to you I should like to inform you that I have just received news that my Visiting Professorship under the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace has been renewed. My work will start at the beginning of October, probably at Cornell, and will end before Christmas as usually.

As you told me that you did not see a possibility for the immediate future, I hope that this will not coincide with plans you might have been kind enough to make for me. I med not emphasize that I would be very happy if something might materialize for the unlimited time after Christmas, or in the improbable case of something turning up for during the summer months.

Dear Mr. Aydelotte:

It is bad news that zu Löwenstein is not going to be reappointed at Iowa State. I am in despair about this refugee problem. Let me think about this for a little while and discuss it with you further.

The status of the Ashton-Gwatkin material is this: I have asked Mr. Riefler to prepare a memo incorporating a counter-proposal which will remove the objections which were brought out at our luncheon discussion. Perhaps you would be willing to mention to Mr. Riefler indicating that you approve of his undertaking this task and would be glad to see it carried through to conclusion as soon as possible.

My dear Dr. zu Lowenstein:

Mr. Aydelotte has shown me your letter of April 27 describing the uncertainty of your future after your lowa State professorship expires in June.

Would you be willing to give me a little more information concerning what you have been doing and what you would like to do in the immediate future? For example, do you happen to have available a curriculum vitae or other biographical data which you could conveniently send on without putting yourself to too much inconvenience?

So far as I know the Institute has no funds available which would enable us to take advantage of your services, but I occasionally run across opportunities elsewhere which might interest you. As you know, however, these are becoming fewer and fewer and I am not at all optimistic. Nevertheless, I should like to be prepared for an opportunity should it occur.

Dear Sir:

For a selected group of scientists, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has arranged a special showing of its forthcoming motion picture "Madame Curie," based on Eve Curie's book of the same name. We would be honored to have you and Professor Einstein attend this screening, which will be held in our private projection room, 17th floor, 1540 Broadway, New York, at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, November 30. Will you extend an invitation to Professor Einstein?

In this film Pierre Curie is portrayed by Walter Pidgeon and Madame Curie is played by Greer Garson. You may have seen these two splendid actors in "Mrs. Miniver." Dr. R. M. Langer, physicist of the California Institute of Technology, closely supervised the production to assure technical accuracy.

We are very much interested in getting the reaction of scientists to this picture, which we believe pays proper tribute to a great achievement in a dignified and sincere manner.

Because of the limited seating capacity of our projection room, we would greatly appreciate it if you would let us know as soon as possible whether you and Professor Einstein will find it possible to attend this special screening and whether or not you will be accompanied by guests.

The Anglo-American Conference of Historians, to which the enclosed invitation refers, is the fifth of the series. Normally these Conferences are held every five years, but, owing to the war, no plenary Conference has been organised since 1936, although interim Conferences, lasting only two or three days, have been very well supported. The University of London considers that the Festival year of 1951 will provide a good opportunity of holding the first plenary Conference since the war.

The Senate of the University has instructed the Committee of the Institute of Historical Research to make the necessary arrangements. A detailed programme is being prepared, and will be sent, with the necessary forms and particulars, to any representatives your governing body is able to nominate. It would greatly facilitate preparations if the full name, academic titles and university degrees of your representatives were sent at an early date to the Secretary, Institute of Historical Research, Senate House, London, W.C.1.

THE FIFTH ANGLO-AMERICAN CONFERENCE OF HISTORIANS

LONDON, 9-14 JULY, 1951

On behalf of the Vice-Chancellor and the Senate of the University of London, the Committee of the Institute of Historical Research invite you to the Fifth Anglo-American Conference of Historians, to be held at the Institute, Senate House, London, W.C.I, from Monday, 9 July, to Saturday, 14 July, 1951.

Previous conferences of this kind were held at the Institute in 1921, 1926, 1931 and 1936. This will be the first plenary Conference since the war, although interim meetings have been held each year from 1947. Universities and other institutions of learning in the British Isles, in the countries of the British Commonwealth and in the United States of America have been invited to nominate representatives at the Conference. The present invitation is addressed to individuals in these countries.

There will be a Business Meeting on the first day of the Conference and three other General Meetings, the first to be addressed by the Master of the Rolls. There will also be Section Meetings at which papers will be read on various aspects of Ancient History, Medieval European History, Medieval English History, Modern European History, Modern English History, American History and Comparative Colonial History. Details of the programme and lists of all those who accept invitations will be contained in the Conference Handbook, to be issued to members on their arrival in London.

All those wishing to attend the Conference, including those who have been officially nominated by a university or another institution of learning, are asked to fill in the blue APPLICATION FORM sent herewith and to return it, with the registration fee as soon as possible, so as to reach London not later than 11 June, 1951.

A. T. MILNE, Secretary
