Dear Sir,

This Institute is resuming activities after a hiatus due to war conditions.

On December 19th, 1940 you wrote offering to send copies of Recent Books on International Relations but, on assuming office I could find no copies of this bilbography more recent than October 1941.

If the bilbography is being published now we should be grateful to be placed on the mailing list. We are preparing a bilbiography of New Zealand publications On international affairs which we shall send you when it is completed.

Yours faithfully,

Dear Mr. Neumeyer:

Many thanks for your letter of November 28th. It seems difficult for me to advise you concerning your plan to apply for membership with the Institute for Advanced Study because applications of this kind are decided upon by the Humanistic School as a whole so that the individual members thereof cannot speak with any authority in advance. So the only thing I can say is that if you wish to make such an application you should address it to the Institute, stating the precise nature of your project and your financial requirements. The best time to do this is in February or early March because at this time the budget for 1946-47 will be decided upon.

With my best personal regards,

Very sincerely yours,

I appreciate very warmly these lovely photographs of the Bamberger plaque and the tablet along side it. The bas relief of Mr. Bamberger which you have in the Museum is so much better than the one we have here that I sometimes wish we could have it reproduced for the Institute for Advanced Study. At any rate, I am having this photograph framed for my office.

Dear Mr. Aydelotte: -

On October first, through the generosity of Mr. Louis Bamberger, the Newark Museum will open to the public an exhibition of Old Masters, part of the collection loaned to the New York and San Francisco Fairs by prominent European Museums and Collectors. Many of these pictures are of great importance, and the opportunity to see them at the Newark Museum will, I am sure, be welcomed by our people generally.

In view of the unusual nature of this exhibit, we are asking a group of New Jersey people who are interested, to act as a Sponsoring Committee. Nothing is required of the Committee membership except a friendly interest in the exhibition and assistance in making this opportunity known to as many as possible.

We would esteem it an honor if you would be good enough to permit us to add you to the Sponsoring Committee.

We shall be happy too to have you attend the preview at the Museum on the evening of September 30th. We are making special arrangements with respect to the preview by the members of the Committee, of which you will in due course receive notice.

I hope I may have the privilege of adding your name to our Committee.

This has been a very busy Spring for all of us, and I am now setting off for California, and later hope to go to Europe. The Institute is essentially shut down during the summer.

If in the Fall, when I am back from Europe, say in November, you would like to send one of your men or girls down here, we shall be glad to talk to them about our modest doings. Whether it will be a story, you will be better able to judge than I; but I rather doubt it.

For sometime the Newark News has been trying to get a story about some of the work of the Institute for Advanced Study. We do not seem to be able to make the proper connections, although I see no reason why we cannot handle the assignment in a way that would be of value both to the paper and to the Institute.

As you know we have a thoroughly intelligent staff and would select only someone well qualified to do the job.

Mrs. Katherine Russell Office of the Director Institute for Advanced Study Princeton, New Jersey

Dear Mrs. Russell,

Our plans to do an article on the Institute for Advanced Study have been delayed by intervening assignments, part of which required me to be away for a time. I hope you will excuse my delay in writing you after our telephone conversation some days ago.

This postponement is not indicative of lack of interest in the story we discussed. On the contrary, my editor has reiterated his desire to tell our readers the story of the Institute, what its purposes are, what those attending it do, how they live, and what they are like. It is startling, and we feel unfortunate, that so many persons right here in New Jersey know little more about the Institute than its mere location. Its service too often goes unappreciated.

Incidentally, by following your suggestion I was able to see Mr. Toynbee several times in New York. We used two stories. When he can be caught, he proves to be a very genial person. He said your place had proved perfect for his study program.

As to story plans, we should like to come to the Institute and gather an understanding and interesting story and pictures of your institution and the people who give it meaning. Any time within the next week or so that you might suggest as most convenient would be agreeable, though the nearer to mid-week it is, the more easily would it fit into our schedule.

Thanking you in advance and looking forward to meeting you,

October 13, 1932.

CHARLES DANIEL TREXLER, PASTOR

Dr. Abraham Flexner, 100 East 42nd Street, New York City, N. Y.

My dear Dr. Flexner:

May I be considered an applicant for a secretarial position in connection with the new project in adult education of which the calling of Dr. Einstein to Princeton is a part? I have had experience in secretarial work at New York University, as the enclosed letter from Professor Samuel L. Hamilton will show.

My other experience includes five years with the American Telephone and Telegraph Company. first as a stenographer and later as a secretary. I left at the beginning of 1926 to take a position as a sort of director of general activities at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Brooklyn. church has a membership of about fifteen hundred people and does a great deal of social and recreational work. I left in 1929, at the doctor's suggestion, as the volume and strain of the work was beginning to tell upon my health. During the next year I was secretary to Mr. Frank Ernest Hill. Editor-in-Chief at Longmans, Green and Company. also read and reported upon manuscripts. The work was very fascinating, but the position which Professor Hamilton offered me seemed a better opportunity and afforded a larger salary. After working with Professor Hamilton for about a year and a half. I accepted my present position at the Church of St. James. I am again working with Dr. Trexler, for whom I worked at the Church of the Good Shepherd. in Brooklyn. I am combining two positions here-secretarial and social service, but, due to financial conditions, it seems quite likely that it may be necessary to discontinue having a paid worker at the end of this year, and possibly sooner. For that reason I am anxious to make some contacts which may afford furture opportunities.

I think you will remember my sister, Margaret Nickel, to whom you were more than good last year when she was out of a position. Of course, I hope you won't concern yourself with me to that extent. You have already given enough of your time to our family. It merely occurred to me that in the next few months, or within the next year, some vacancy might occur which I could fill, and that you might not mind if I submitted an application.

I am not a college graduate -- family circumstances made it necessary for me to go to work as soon as I left high school -- but I think I have had about the equivalent of two years work. of the positions which I have held were previously held by college graduates, and three of my four employers have re-offered me positions. I am working with Dr. Trexler for the second time. Mr. Hill, of Longmans, asked me to come back when I had been gone about six months. My sister took the position, instead, but shortly after that the firm met with reverses. Professor Hamilton also gave me the opportunity to return to the University after I had been over here several months. At that time, however, my position seemed secure, and now he has an assistant who is as dependent upon her earnings as I. and I should not want to attempt to replace her.

My general background is good. My father was a newspaper editor. I have met a great many people and have traveled as much as I can afford. I read a great deal, go to theatre and concerts, and learn quickly. My weak point is mathematics, so, of course, I should not be eligible or useful in connection with the proposed mathematical school, which, I believe, is the first unit in the new project.

Professor Hamilton has stressed my work in religious education so strongly that I am afraid that certain types of men, at least, of business men, might be afraid to employ me. I have always been a liberal and am temperamentally unable to be argumentative. In fact, my three best friends are Jews. I am afraid I haven't a very theological mind.

Please do not go to any trouble in connection with this application, but if you hear of any thing for which you think I might be eligible, I shall be glad to know. I am enclosing my picture, taken this summer, so that you may see my type.

My sister has a position at present which seems to be as permanent as positions go, these days. One never knows what will happen next. It is a great joy to have her difficulties straightened out. The sense of futility and frustration which result from vainly looking for work is very hard to bear. You did more for her than I think you realize, and we all appreciate it.

Very sincerely,

Rutharnold nickel

miss Ruth Nickel, 8013 Sixth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Dear Miss Nickel:

I meant to speak to you before you left, asking if you wanted a letter from me with regard to your work. Since I forgot to do this, I am sending this statement after you; for aside from the possibility of your needing it at some future time, I should like to make an expression of opinion to you.

In the eight months that you have been with me as my secretary. I have been increasingly appreciative of what you were able to give us.

In the first place, your work as a stenographer and typist was excellent--in fact, I have never had such good work. Needless to say, I realize that letters to authors and publishers about books are often difficult and exacting, and what I am able to say on this point is accordingly of especial significance.

However, I have been quite as pleased with the sensible way in which you handled the rather complicated routine of the office--the filing of manuscripts, receiving of authors, etc., and the very able service you gave in getting out our lists of new works, and in dealing with permissions. I must speak, too, of the good judgment you have shown in reporting on manuscripts, and the excellent manner in which your reports were organized and written. I am regretful that there was not more purely editorial work for you to do, for I feel that you showed a marked ability for it.

Finally, I have been most appreciative of the unfailing cheerfulness and poise with which you have dispatched the many duties of this interesting but very full and varied position.

As I told you before, we are all most sorry that you have decided to go, and I hope you will refer me to anyone who may in the future desire information about you.

Sincerely yours,

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I have known Miss Ruth Nickel and her work since January, 1929, when she was a student in my classes in religious education in New York University. Her work as a student was of the highest grade. She showed unusual grasp of problems of organization, administration and supervision of religious education in the local church, and more than usual insight and initiative in the solution of such problems.

In the spring of 1930, I engaged her as secretary in the Department of Religious Education and my personal assistant in the supervision of religious education in more than 200 churches in Long Island and Connecticut. She was in charge of the office end of my work, handling important correspondence without dictation. Despite the large volume of her work, its quality was of uniform excellence. Her personal contacts with students, pastors, members of numerous committees and visitors to the office were happy and agreeable by reason of her good address and pleasant personality. She is dependable, cheerful, loyal, cooperative, intelligent and competent.

She resigned in the summer of 1931 to become Director of Religious Education in the Lutheran Church of Saint James, New York City.

I can commend her without reservation as a private secretary or confidential assistant to an executive of a religious or philanthropic organization, to an educational administrator, or to an editor and publisher. I shall be very glad to answer definite questions as to Miss Nickel's work.

Dear Sir,

I received your kind letter of July 31, and as you are apparently waiting for the next volume of the "Oudheidkundig Jaarboek" (which as usual, and for the sake of convenience, was billed already), I wish to inform you that this publication is rather irregular so that it may take some time before it can be mailed. In order to avoid complications I think it will be easier for both of us not to hold up this invoice until this volume is published, and therefore would ask you to remit in full at this time, or else to deduct the amount for the Jaarboek, which will then be rebilled later after publication. I leave this entirely to you.

Very truly yours,

My dear Dactor Flexuer,

In cashing about for filds of study and for men, I wish you would keep the field in which I do special work, in mind. Namely, History of Mathematics ! now when Profesor David Engene Smith at Teachers Callege her retired, and Professor Cajori, of California, has possed away, there is not an institution in the country that regularly gives graduale work in same. Yes, I must except Dr. Louis Karpinski, who at times gos gives courses at U. of Michigan; and I myself give graduale courses at the summer sessions at the University of Lower

It is a fascinating, a stimulating field. and since mathematics has been dominant in the philosophy Take race and been a pullar in their civilizations rep-building its genesis should receive more attention. But, it is a field by itself in what it takes both a knowledge of the actual mathematics as now studied, and a knowledge of the different languages, - to do effective work, to do discovery work. Dear Dr. Flexner, Mynors has returned from his stay at the Institute full of the kindness which he received at your hands. His three months with Dr.Riefler appear to have given him an ideal introduction to the American scene and many of its most interesting personalities.

I should like to thank you most sincerely for making his visit to the United States so valuable and so enjoyable.

I am,

With kind regards,

Dear Governor Norman:

Mynors and Rielfer are sailing today. Mynors will of course make his own report to you so that you will be able to judge how much his visit to us has meant to him, but I should like to say that from our point of view it has been an extraordinarily fruitful one.

We have found him a charming person and a keen, thoughtful observer, and I hope that the relationship that starts with him may be continued as your convenience permits by the coming of others to us and perhaps in due course by our sending semeone like Riefler to you, if you think an experience of this kind likely to be helpful to the two countries upon which more and more I feel the future depends.

With all good wishes and deep appreciation,

Dear Mr. Norman:

I was out of town when your letter of December 22 reached Princeton and returned only a day or two before Mr. Mynors landed. I had the pleasure of meeting him at dinner at the Rieflers' the other evening and formed a most favorable impression of him. I feel sure that his presence here will be of enormous benefit to Riefler, and I hope very much that Riefler may be able to assist him in making such contacts here as will prove interesting and practicable to him.

We have, however, not given up hopes of your sending Professor Clay. It is probably too late to do so this year, but we shall be glad to welcome him at any time.

With all good wishes,

Sincerely yours.

Dear Dr.Flexner,

Thank you for your letter of the 28th November and for the kind thought which prompted your invitation to Professor Clay to visit Princeton and the Institute for Advanced Study. Much as I should have liked Clay to have paid you a visit, it is at the moment quite impossible to spare him, but I am wondering if you would feel disposed to accept a substitute in the person of Mr.H.C.B.Mynors, who is the administrative head of the Economics & Statistics Section of the Bank of England and acts on occasion as Clay's understudy here. Mynors has not previously had an opportunity of visiting America but he has met Dr.Riefler and it would be ideal for him to make Princeton his headquarters while in America, to meet yourself and to familiarise himself, especially on certain points, with the work which Dr.Riefler is doing.

Any such idea, of course, would be subject to agreement with George Harrison, to whom I am writing by the same post. Would you let me know if the suggestion appeals to you. If it does, and if, as I hope, George Harrison would

February 20, 1954

Sir:

Due to the destruction caused by the last world war, the Northern Palawan Academy has not yet fully rehabilitated itself. Its Library which suffered the most severe losses is still far from complete, causing a great handicap to our students. Our town was occupied by the Japanese thoops and they destroyed practically all reading materials to wipe out western influences and occidental teachings. We have tried to purchase books since the liberation of the Philippines, but due to the high prices of books in this country, our acquisition of reading materials has been quite slow.

To partly solve our problem, we thought of appealing to some educational and charitable institutions in America who might be willing to extend to us a helping hand. We have read about the benevolence of the great American people and their institutions. May, we therefore, ask from you to donate to our Academy, any surplus or discarded books which you may have or would went to get rid of? We are not asking first hand or books that are still useful to you. What we request are books or any publication, dictionaries, books on business, economics, high school books and some college books, which you may no longer need, but which I am sure would be still useful for our students in the Philippines.

Palawan is one of the out-of-the-way provinces in the Philippines and still back-ward economically, educationally and socially. There are still many non-christian tribes living in this province who need to be educated. Any help which would lift this province and her people educationally would not only be humanitarien, but lefty and noble.

Trusting that this sincere appeal for help will be accorded a favorable response.

My dear Dr. Flexner:

On September 29th the Norwegian Broadcasting Service inaugurated a daily program of news, music and talks to be sent to the people of Norway on behalf of the legitimate government of King Haakon. It is hoped that before long an important part of these programs will be the sending of messages or talks by outstanding Americans in all professions to their colleagues in imprisoned Norway, via short-wave Station WRUL in Boston. In this connection it is my pleasure to ask you, as a renowned teacher and educator, if you would be willing to send your voice to teachers and citizens in Norway on one of our broadcasts.

Talks may be from five to ten minutes in length, and there is no restriction as to content or form. We should like, however, to have the text of your remarks in order to prepare the Norwegian translation and a release for the Norwegian press of the United States. The Broadcasting Service has recording equipment which can be sent (any time after about two weeks) to your home or office to make a record of your words. This record will then be sent to Boston for transcription at a suitable time.

I plan to be in Princeton this coming Saturday afternoon and Sunday and I would be very glad to give you more information in person about our programs and our speakers. Or if Monday morning would suit you better, I can stay over another night in Princeton. I have written also to Dr. Einstein and Professor Veblen with similar requests, and I can assure you that it will be a great honor for our Broadcasting Service and a great help to the cause of Norwegian-American solidarity if we may send from Princeton the voices of three such distinguished scholars and citizens.

Notre Dame, Indiana Office of the President

April 6, 1953

Dr. Robert Oppenheimer Office of the Director The Institute for Advanced Study Princeton, New Jersey

Dear Director Oppenheimer:

Most cordially, I invite you to an historic function at the University of Notre Dame. Because our centenary coincided with the war year of 1942, and because we do not formally inaugurate new presidents, we have for some years been without the opportunity of inviting you to be with us on a festive occasion. But now the opportunity, long awaited, has arisen: On May 15 and 16, we are formally dedicating the new I. A. O'Shaughnessy Hall of Liberal and Fine Arts.

This dedication will be an historic moment in the academic growth of the University. We would be deeply honored to have you share the moment with us. Also, we would welcome the chance of knowing you better, and of having you know all of us at Notre Dame better.

Our new two and a quarter million dollar home for the liberal and fine arts was a gift to the University from Mr. I. A. O'Shaughnessy of Saint Paul, Minnesota. The building will contain departmental and staff offices, as well as classrooms for all our liberal arts faculty and student body. In addition to these central facilities, there is a special wing for the University Art Galleries, and another for music and art studios. We like to think that the physical unity given to our College of Liberal and Fine Arts by this building will be a magnificent symbol of the spiritual and intellectual unity which should be given to every university by the liberal college, the source of Christian wisdom.

I am enclosing a copy of the program. In the event that you cannot be present, we would still be delighted to have the Dean of your liberal college, or one of your faculty members represent you and your institution at our dedication.

Wives who will accompany their husbands are most welcome. Will you or your representative please send back the enclosed card as soon as possible, so that we can attend to the housing of our guests. Also, we would like to ask all academic guests to bring with them academic garb for the processions.

With cordial best wishes, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Flexner,

Thank you very much for your letter of May 31st. Since last writing to you we have made a good deal of progress in the planning of Nuffield College and have appointed the first twelve Fellows, who met for the first time on Friday. Everyone connected with the scheme feels that it is going forward satisfactorily, and that is really likely to produce useful results.

My plan for going to America is also rather more definite in my mind. It seems to be generally felt here that I ought to go early next year, so that I am beginning to make that a definite objective. It would help me very much to know whether to arrive at the end of March or the beginning of April would be too late to enable me to get all the contacts which I shall need. As you say, I should want to visit not only the Institute, though that would remain my principal goal, but also to see something of graduate work at other Universities. If the Institute were to pay half of my expenses, it would of course be of the greatest assistance, and put me under a considerable debt of obligation.

I enclose some pathetic correspondence which my office has had with Dr. Jvar Nyman.

Dear Dr. Nyman:

I have just returned from Palestine and find your letters of April second and May fifth applying for a research appointment at the Institute for Advanced Study. I regret to say that there is no vacancy here for which you could possibly be considered. It would seem to me, however, that your qualifications are such as might readily fit you for a place in some American institution of learning, especially if your travelling expenses could be borne by UNRRA as you indicate. I am making inquiries at once of the Institute of International Education, 2 West 45th Street, New York City, and shall report to you any suggestions which they may have to make.

I sympathize very deeply with you in your situation and understand the feeling of frustration which must be the inevitable result. I can only say that it is my belief that conditions are going to improve rapidly and that gradually relief workers will be able to find solutions for the problems of such individuals as yourself if the courage and patience to hold out until this can be done.

I realize that the time must seem long to you, but must remind you on the other hand of the appalling size and difficulty of the problem of war dislocation. I believe that every month marks some progress in the direction of solving these problems, and I am sure that better conditions will eventually be found for people like yourself who do not lose their courage and their ambition.

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

Recently I discussed with Prof. Slichter of Columbia University the possibility of carrying out a certain type of wathermatical research. It appears that your institute would be probably the most switches place for undertaking it. Will you permit me to outline briefly the subject of this research?

Its an electrical engineer interested in the development of radio, television and other allied arts, I have recently attempted to generalize a novel method of calculation applicable to impulse currents - sometimes called transients. This method from a few successful applications appears to permit the mathematical manipulation

and determination of impulse phenomena with about the same facility as the manipulation of sustained oscillatory conditionsby Fourier series.

In other words, as an example, knowing the constants of an electrical circuit and analyzing an impulse into certain components, I have worked out certain rules and functions which permit to determine with facility the final shape and magnitude of the impulse after passing through the network.

I have found this method already quite useful in designing filtres forcestain types of impulse currents and in designing circuits for Television signals.
I can readily see that such a method would be as useful To certain engineering problems as the impedance treatment is useful with alternating currents.
Some examples of impulse phenomena to which this method could be applied are as follows:
Telegraph signals

Telegraph signels
Lightning dircharges on transmission lines
Television currents
Accoustic currents from impact instruments
Earthquake and explosion impulses.
Atomic impact problems.

The method so far worked out by me refers only to the simplest conditions. It is however quite adaptable to more complex problems but the work requires time, effort and preferrably cheeks e.g. by oscillographic records.

It has occurred to me, to offer my services to some educational and research organization, hoping that the above line of research will be in line with their functions.

have considerable experience and Training in engineering problems and Their Treatment by physical and mathematical means. I would be glad to becture or instruct in your institute as well as tackle research problems within my knowledge and abilities.

Dear Dr. Nykl:

I have your letter of November 24th and very much regret to say that the Institute for Advanced Study has no funds which could be used in a situation like yours. Our entire budget is devoted to salaries of the members of the faculty and to stipends to members of the Institute working in fields which are represented by our staff. Your subject, while extraordinarily interesting, is entirely outside our range at the moment, and it would, therefore, be impossible for us to consider your application for an appointment. I hope very much you will be able to find support elsewhere.

My dear D: agalotte,

My correspondence with Professor J. D. M. Ford of Harvard, and his high opinion of my scholarly achievement, emboldens me to enquire whether it would not be possible for the Institute for advanced Studies to come to my rescue, at least temporarily, and with a small sum of money, to complete my book on Spanish - arabic posting and to relations with the Romance, notably the Provençal, nostry. I have a long list of publications on the subject, in the country and in Europe (France, spain, Possigal, Italy, Germany), have lectured on it at the surversity of Granada and at Cormba. Returned on October 11² from Possigal. I befreve I could complete the work in about one year. Professors Ford and Hilli can give you more details as to my character and work. Should you be in a position to suffort my project, I might go to Princeton and discuss it with you, submitting at the Jana time my material. I was a showert of Bot. T. a. I have your kind note of June third but unfortunately Professor Herzfeld, on whose judgment I should have to rely, has sailed for Europe and will not return until autumn. Dr. Abraham Flexner, Director, Institute for Advanced Study, Princeton, N.J.

Dear Dr. Flexner.

Professor Bender suggests that I should write you to ask whether you would be able to find a possibility to help me, at least during the coming year, in completing a work which comes under the head of cultural history in the fields of contacts between the Islamic and Romance mediaeval literature. A brief description of my previous published work is available in the Encyclopedia of Islam, Supplement 2, sub Ibn Hazm, Ibn Dawūd and Ibn Kuzmān. The three books therein mentioned are available in the Princeton library. The last review of Ibn Dawūd's Kitāb al-Zahrah by G.v.Grūnbaum in the Wiener Zeitschrift für die Kunde des Morgenlandes (WZKM) last issue, pp.144-145 might give you an idea of the work which I can deliver. Professors Hitti and Tarr are also acquainted with my work.

I have completed the edition of a book similar to the Kitāb al-Zahrah, by Ibn al-Djawzi, entitled Dhamm al-hawā (the Blame of Passion) on the basis of six manuscripts and should like to print it, either in Beirut or in Cairo, in approximately the same style as the above-mentioned Kitāb al-Zahrah. It would be a book of abt.640 pp., and before the cost of paper and labor goes up -it has gone up already-I believe that with $2200 I could furnish 500 copies by  July,1938. These would be the property of the Institute, and could sell at one pound, or 5 dollars. Half of the issue could be left in the East for sale there and in Europe; the other half could be shipped to USA; there would be no duty.

In the meantime the financial situation might improve, and a more permanent agreement with the Institute could be made.

Kindly consider my proposition and let me know your opinion.

Yours faithfully,

arnykl.
